6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph or telephone, will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchase so made will be subject to the above Conditions of Sale, which cannot in any manner be modified. The Association, however, in the event of making a purchase of a lot consisting of one or more books for a purchaser who has not, through himself or his agent, been present at the exhibition or sale, will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be returned, if the lot in any material manner differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be written and given with such plainness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit should be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced copies of the catalogue of any sale, or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at a reasonable charge.

The text of the present copy, with the exception of the minor defect noted above, is in exceptionally sound condition.

Regarding this work, Sabin's Dictionary thus states:—

"A German translation by Michael Herr; it is less known and much rarer than the original. Although it has no map, it has, on the other hand, the merit of being augmented in the text. It contains a full translation of Peter Martyr's Decades, leaf 174-229, and also his books "De Legatione Babylonica," 235-248, both wanting in all the different Latin editions; besides it contains all the pieces of the first Latin edition of 1532, except Munster's "Introductio in tabulam geograph," to which the map belongs, and would therefore, have been superfluous in this edition. The preface by Grynaeus is omitted, but a new one by the translator, Michael Herr, is added. It is curious that none of these differences have been noted by HARRISSE." "The Committee to whom the several Ordinances relating to Capture on Water were committed, report the following Ordinance:—In pursuance of the power vested in Congress by the articles of confederation, and to prevent the danger arising from uncertainty or error in decisions on captures which ought to be the result of accurate comparison and application of the resolutions of Congress, public treaties and the law of nations; it becomes necessary that a supreme court of appeals, in all cases of captures, should be constituted, and established, with full power to controul and correct the proceedings of all inferior courts of admiralty in the United States in such cases. "The report then goes on to state that the Court is to consist of three members, to be chosen from time to time by Congress, and commissioned by the President. The duties and the authority vested in the Court are cited in full. Printed in double column. Folio. Matted.

Original Documents relative to the half pay of British officers in the French and Indian War and the War of the Revolution.

Among the more important items noted are the following,—Complete List of the Reduced Officers entitled to half pay on over 100 pages. Among the members of the Regiment disbanded in 1748 and 1749 are the Staff Officer of the Garrison of Louisberg, John Cherington and Thomas Maliee as Surgeon to the Commander in Chief of the Expedition to the Spanish West Indies. Among the Members of the Regiments disbanded in 1763 will be found names famous during the French and Indian War; also, a Corps of Rangers raised in North America, Four Independent Companies late in New York (Gardener, Sutherland, McKeane, Lumsden, Hicks); three Independent Companies late in South Carolina, etc.

At this date there were still living officers of the Garrison of Louisberg, Havannah and the Corps of Rangers raised in North America, who were entitled to half-pay. Chisolm—Volunteer aid—is in charge of four prisoners taken in Fairfax County from the enemy, & a certain Dr. John Richards of Washington, who arrived here this morning on the plea of meeting here with his son, at school in Charlottesville—but more probably for the purpose of obtaining all the information he could, relative to our position & forces, to communicate to his friend, Mr. Lincoln, whose family physician I am informed he is—I would respectfully advise that he should be kept a prisoner until after the war—for by the enclosed papers, it will be seen that his sympathies appear to be entirely with our enemies."

We can afford to lose even Richmond—but they cannot Washington & Maryland . . . But we must look out for less important expeditions such as the destruction of the Batteries at Aquia Creek . . . I have ordered Col. Hampton to effect that diversion on the Potomac above you—but I think he ought not to awaken their suspicion by showing himself too soon . . ."

Together, 4 vols. uniformly bound in half green levant morocco, gilt tops or gilt edges, original cloth covers (3) bound in. London, 1840-1842

It is of very rare occurrence that a complete set of the Sibson plates accompanies such a fine copy of "The Clock." This artist made but two sets of extra illustrations for Dickens' writings, "Pickwick" and "Master Humphrey's Clock." The set of Sibson Etchings is unquestionably the best independent series of illustrations to Dickens ever published, and brilliant original impressions, such as those in the present copy, are rightfully regarded as equal to the best efforts of Seymour, 'Phiz,' and Cruikshank in the same direction.

358. DICKENS (CHARLES). Little Dorrit. Illustrations by H. K. Browne. FIRST EDITION in the ORIGINAL 20 MONTHLY PARTS (in 19). 8vo, pictorial wrappers, with the advertisements as issued. In a half morocco case. London, 1855-1857

London, 1881-1884-1885

THE CHAPMAN AND HALL EDITION DE LUXE, limited and numbered issue, with text in large, clear type. In addition to the writings of Dickens, usually found as a set of 30 volumes, the above contains the additional volumes, seldom found with the writings, which are Plays and Poems and Speeches and Bibliography. These were issued uniform with the edition de luxe, with the consent of Chapman and Hall, by other publishers. Of the former, 150 copies were printed, and of the latter, only 50 copies.

363. DICKENS (CHARLES). A REMARKABLE COLLECTION OF EXTRA-ILLUSTRATIONS TO THE WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS, COMPRISING SIX HUNDRED AND FORTY-NINE ORIGINAL CHARACTER STUDIES, illustrating the Writings of Dickens, DRAWN IN WATER-COLORS, BY "KYD," (CLAYTON CLARK). Each drawing executed on a large quarto sheet of cartridge paper, with a colored and illustrated general title-page, and colored title-pages and lists of the characters to each set of drawings, all executed by "Kyd." The whole preserved in six specially made book-shaped cloth cases, each with an inner protecting cover, and lettered.

(London, 1885-1889)

THE MOST IMPORTANT SERIES OF DRAWINGS BY "KYD" TO ILLUSTRATE THE WRITINGS OF DICKENS THAT HAS BEEN OFFERED FOR SALE. A BOTH lover of Dickens, "Kyd" has so steeped himself in his writings, and so thoroughly grasped the true Dickensian spirit that he seems to represent absolutely the characters as Dickens had them in his mind, giving form and feature to practically every one in the whole series of Dickens' writings, and proving "Kyd" to be almost as prolific and versatile as Dickens himself.

This unique collection would be admirably adapted to extra-illustrating any of the good library editions of Dickens as the water-colors themselves are of a suitable size for an octave volume, and the book in which each character appears is inscribed on the drawing.

Laid in is a one page 4to. autograph letter of the artist, regarding the drawings, in which he states that the foregoing collection "....is

London: Macmillan, 1900

Edition limited to 60 copies, with the Portfolio of 50 Proof Impressions of the Plates, each on India Paper.

A magnificent and costly publication, in which the authoress has been at some pains to point out the artistic relationship between the stipple-engraver and the color-printer of the eighteenth century, both in England and France, supplementing her work with a series of beautiful and charming plates—each in duplicate, colored,—reproducing the splendid color-printing and engraving by the above-mentioned artists.

The Colored Proof Impressions which accompany the present work, are worthy of special note, each plate being a reproduction of the original engraving, showing the beautiful shades and colors used in this forgotten art. Among the plates may be mentioned,—Portraits of the Duchess of Devonshire (Georgiana Spencer); Lady Elizabeth Foster; Lady Smith and her Children; Diana and Nymphs Bathing; Venus Sleeping; all engraved by Bartolozzi; Lady Rushout and Daughter, by Angelica Kauffmann; The Mask, by Reynolds; Lady Hamilton, by Romney; Constance, by Morland; Mrs. Crew, engraved by Watson; Morning and Evening, by W. 419. ELIOT (GEORGE). A SERIES OF SEVEN AUTOGRAPH LETTERS SIGNED, "M. E. LEWES" being correspondence addressed to Mr. Deutsch, either from Germany, where she was in August, 1867, or from the Priory, North Bank, Regents Park, from August 13, 1867, to, and including, September 14, 1870. Three of the letters are not dated, but were probably written between these periods. The letters lightly hinged on paper, within pen-and-ink borders, each leaf guarded, and the whole bound in a small 4to. volume of red morocco, contents lettered on the side and back. In a cloth case.

THIS HIGHLY IMPORTANT SERIES OF AUTOGRAPH LETTERS, by the author of "Adam Bede" was written to Mr. Deutsch, about whom she wrote in her journal on November 22, 1867. ". . . The author of the glorious article on the Talmud is "that bright little man," Mr. Deutsch—a very dear, delightful creature." They comprise 24 pages, and are of intimate personal interest. Some extracts from them follow:

"Here we are among our beloved pine forests, renewing past joys— & we like this so well that we do not think of journeying onward till the 20th. Probably on the 22d we shall be at Dresden, so will you please address your (promised) precious packet to me at the Poste Restante there?"

* * * * *

"May it be long before you go thither in the mysterious boat & make it heavy with the invisible weight of your soul! Also pray send me any word you can about our friend Mrs. F. Lehmann.

Mr. Lewes unites in begging you to accept our kind regards,"

* * * * *

"See how I take it on me to tell you our duty! But as a German you are bound to be reverent to rather silly old women & take them for prophetesses.

I am delighted to tell you that Mr. Lewes is already a new creature as to his digestion."

* * * * *

"We have been thinking of you much since you parted from us yesterday, & have made ourselves all the more indignant at the buzzing & stinging which is tormenting you. I beseech you not to battle with it. Escape from it—mentally, I mean, by working steadily without reference to any temporary chit-chat, whether silly, ignorant, or curious. Of course the noise of admiration is always half of it contemptible in its quality, & as besotting as bad wine if a man lets himself take too much of it. And the spite, the head-shaking, the depreciation that comes as a consequence, are the muddiest reflux of muddy waters.

Get rid of it all by a huge effort of will, & don't run the risk of being maddened by insect stings. Let your articles be what they please—are you accountable to the world for the fuss they have made about it?"

* * * * *

"It has been a painful thought to me that we should have told you we wavered & almost wished you had gone away from this Bable. It was a sort of figure in Mr. Lewes' speech last night; he only meant to impress on you his sense of the need that you should keep yourself in calm air. You do not believe that we can help, beneath all, rejoicing that you have not gone on that frightfully uncertain journey."

* * * * *

"I write in case I do not see you tomorrow to tell you that I have no courage to write when I am away because I never believe that any one cares for me for a fortnight together unless I have some renewed assurance of eye or voice or hand. But if you should happen to have a wish directed towards me, write to me on thin paper & address the letter to this house "To be forwarded;" then I will write."

* * * * *

"Mr. Lewes was in sad condition when he set out again in search of health, but he is very well now & can make his mornings interesting by revising his Hist. of Philosophy without feeling himself helpless for the rest of the day. Several hours are filled for us by reading & talk about the war, & for a still longer time we think & dream of it. I suppose you have been to Breslau & have seen & heard much of German feeling, action, & alas, suffering. One can only hope that this is not the mere beginning of sorrows.

Mr. Lewes is heartily sharing in the impulse that makes me write, & in anxious wishes that we may soon know of your full recovery."

* * * * *

"Thrice welcome! Keep next Sunday for us, if you can, & come to lunch at ½ past 1. We shall not be satisfied with a small allowance of talk. Somebody may have told you that we have a house-trouble—a dear lad lying ill. But that makes our evenings all the more open for conversation, & if you can't come next Sunday & will come some evening before then, you will find affection and bring gladness."

This Princess, born April 25, 1843, was the third child of Queen Victoria. She married in 1862, H. R. H. Louis IV, Grand-Duke of Hesse; died in December, 1878.

Hunt's poem, which covers three long sheets of paper, and is inlaid with portrait and a beautiful transcript into a full levant volume, is his most delightful piece of verse of welcome to a royal infant. It is especially so in its reference to Queen Victoria, whom the poet calls, Thy sweet, strong-hearted mother.

The present manuscript shows Hunt's genius at its best.

To share 'twist enterprise & ease' / 3
Gracious manners flowing round
From the courts' enchanted ground,
Comfort keeping all secure,
None too rich, & none too poor'

Thou mountain, sweet child of one
Fit to see that golden sun,
Thou may so worse lot befall
Than a long life, April all;
Fuller, much, of hopes than fears,
Kind in smiles, & kind in tears,
Gentle, cheerful, ever new,
Heaven and earth both left in view,
While the poor look up; & bless
Thy celestial brightness.
And when all thy days are done,
And sadness views thy setting sun,
Nought thou great thy mother's eyes.
And endless May in Paradise.

581. IRVING (WASHINGTON). ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT NOTES AND THE ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF AN UNFINISHED AND UNPUBLISHED SKETCH ENTITLED "POLLY HOLLMAN'S WEDDING," WRITTEN ON BOTH SIDES OF 23 OCTAVO PAGES OF WHITE PAPER, UNSIGNED. Hinged on cardboard and enclosed in a neat cloth case, lettered.

Circa 1830-1832

A WASHINGTON IRVING MANUSCRIPT OF MORE THAN USUAL INTEREST FROM A COLLECTION OF MANUSCRIPTS LEFT BY WASHINGTON IRVING TO HIS NEPHEW AND BIOGRAPHER, PIERRE M. IRVING, AND PRESENTED BY THE LATTER TO THE PRESENT OWNER, A DIRECT DESCENDANT OF THE AUTHOR.

Of the 23 pages here offered, 21 pages comprise the ORIGINAL NOTES of the sketch, "Polly Holman's Wedding," the scene of which has been laid in the early years of the last century, an evidence of which fact being the date "1805" at the left top corner of page 1 of the Notes, made, probably, during the years 1830-1832, about the period Irving made a tour of the West, including the Pawnee country, and where he quite likely found the material for the sketch here described.

The paper on which the Notes are penned is gilt-edged, differing, it will be seen, from the three sheets of paper used by the author at a later period for the reconstruction of the sketch, the entire rewritten portion of which is here reproduced:—

"I first became acquainted with old Holman in 1800. He then lived on the Prairies near Big Clifty, which is a branch of . . . , which is a branch of Green River. I was riding along in the evening not knowing where I should put up for the night when I came by Holman's farm and saw a fine buxom black-eyed girl trying to milk a cow, but pestered by the calf. I got off my horse, jumped into the cow-pen, took hold of a rope tied to the foot of the calf and drew it away. The young girl blushed and giggled and went on with her milking. By and bye I heard a loud rough voice,—

'Hello, stranger, who are you? Polly, who have you got there?'

I answered,—'Me.'

'And who the deuce are you?'

'I'm just a traveller, who saw the calf was bothering the young woman, and thought I'd draw it off until she had done milking . . . '

Since the presentation of this manuscript to the present owner, it has remained in a safe-deposit vault until its withdrawal therefrom for preparation for present sale. As will be gleaned from a perusal of the Notes and the unfinished rewritten sketch itself, the incidents incorporated are of considerable humor, and had they been turned into the finished literary product as Washington Irving had commenced to turn them, the completed sketch would certainly have found a place of permanency among his writings in collected form.

tables for the Staff

~~The Staff~~

The Staff and the Staff's rest

A discerning man long ago having laid a nest-full of valuable eggs, had across the horizon under the pressure of recurring learning his nest in a secluded spot where it was his interest by a disinterested observer who reported the same to an Intelligence Officer. The latter arriving at his lecture with a Great Pompano's ~~intentionally~~ bred "~~Intelligence~~ reactor" "See me, he's a Tech" and sitting down without unnecessary comment the latter outburst into an uninterrupted oratorical stream: "How has he returned to me? His matter is another spirit you might have obtained valuable information." "The?" replied the Ponder. "I am morally certain that these eggs have come out so much better. It is now too late to enquire." "said the disinterested observer and that is a pity." "But am I not the Intelligence Officer?"
said the Intelligence Officer. "Of that there can be no less opinion," said the Disinterested Observer.
Whereupon he was sent down.

This particular manuscript was given by Kipling to Julian Ralph, the author, who was Kipling's co-editor during the Boer War.

To the Woom.

First-born of all creation! yet unsung!
 I call thee not to listen to my lay,
 For well I know thou turnest a deaf ear indifferent to the sweetest of complaints, sweetest and most infortunate. The voice which wouldst awake them, and which almost can the sleeping dead, thou rearest up against!
 And no voice heedest thou the woe below.
 Yet art thou gentle, and for ~~the~~ reward
 because thou art so humble in thy ways,
 Thou hast survived the giants of wasteful worlds,
 Giants whom Chaos left unborn behind
 And Earth with fierce abhorrence at first sight shook from her bosom, some on burning sands,
 Others on icy mountains, far apart.
 Mammoth and mammoth's archetype, and coil of serpent cable-long, and prodigious ~~tail~~ of lizard to whom crocodile was dwarf.
 Having too little of been done thee, I have watcht
 the shingale that most inquisitive of plumed fowls, send forth a sidelong glance from the low target, on the smooth fast path, Attracted by a glimmering tortoise track of silver left there when the dew had dried,
 And dart on one of them, that one of hers might play with it. Alas! the young will play reckless of leaving pain and death behind!
 I too (but only from such sin forbore) have hastened on my track, aside the stream to study Arrows for the broad mill-pond of my scithing race. Thou wilt more patiently await my hour, more quietly pursue thy destined jolly legitimate. First, then
 I called thee at the opening of my song,
 Last of creation I will call thee slow.
 What fiery meters have we seen transposed our firament! and mighty was their power to leave a solitude and stench behind?
 The vulture may have revell'd upon man;
 Upon the vulture's self thou revelest;
 Princess may hold high festival, for thee chiefly they hold it. Every dish removed,

The very abundance of wood in New Jersey, led to its waste, and although by 1705 much timber had been purchased from the proprietors,

An ACT for the further Preservation of Timber within the Colony of New-Jersey.

WHEREAS an Act of the General Assembly of this Colony, made and published in the twelfth and thirteenth Years of the Reign of her late Majesty Queen ANNE, entitled, An Act for preventing the Waste of Timber, Pine and Cedar Trees and Poles, within this Province of New-Jersey, and to lay a Duty upon all Pipe and Hoghead Staves exported out of the same to any of the neighbouring Colonies, has been found very advantageous to the Owners of Land within this Colony; but the good Intentions of the same having been in many Instances evaded, and defeated, by the Claims put in, by Persons cutting and destroying of Timber on Land to which they have no Right, and thereby preventing the Justices of the Peace within this Colony from proceeding in the Trial of such Offences. For Remedy whereof for the Future,

BE IT ENACTED by the Governor, Council and General Assembly, and it is hereby Enacted by the Authority of the same, That every Person or Persons in this Colony, who shall cut, box, bore, or destroy any Tree, Saplin or Pole, on Lands to which they have not Right and Title, shall forfeit and pay, for each Tree, Saplin or Pole, the Sum of Twenty Shillings, over and above the Penalty inflicted for the said Offences by the before recited Act; one Half to the Owner of the Land, and the other Half to the Person who sues or prosecutes the same to Effect, at any Time within one Year, from the cutting, boxing, boring or destroying the said Tree, Saplin or Pole: And that whenever any Person or Persons within this Colony, shall be sued or prosecuted before any Justice of the Peace in this Colony, agreeable to the Directions of the before recited Act, that it shall and may be lawful for such Justice of the Peace to proceed, whenever the Penalty demanded shall be under Five Pounds, Proclamation Money, notwithstanding any Claim the Defendant may offer or make to the Land whereon the said Trees or Poles may be cut, bored or boxed, and to issue Execution for the same, with Costs of Suit; unless the Defendant or Defendants shall immediately enter into a Bond to the Plaintiff, with one or more sufficient Sureties, being Freeholders, in the Sum of Thirty Pounds, conditioned for his Appearance in an Action of Trespass, and to pay the Damages found against him, with Costs of Suit; any Law, Usage or Custom to the Contrary notwithstanding.

PROVIDED ALWAYS, That neither this Act, or any Thing therein contained, shall in any Manner affect the Persons settled within the supposed Boundaries of the Elizabeth-Town Purchase, or Newark Purchase, and are at present Plaintiffs or Defendants in any Bill or Answer now filed in the High Court of Chancery of this Colony, in Respect to any Timber to be by them, or either of them, cut down or manufactured within any of the fenced or improved Lands of the said Plaintiffs or Defendants, their Issue or Tenants, or to such Trees as are used for fencing, building or repairing any Edifices thereon.

PROVIDED ALWAYS, That this Act shall remain in full Force for the Space of five Years from the End of this Session, and from thence to the End of the next Session of Assembly thereafter, but no longer.

thousands of acres still remained in the hands of the Boards of East and West Jersey, and at the mercy and greed of owners which became so great by 1743, that the Legislature passed an act prohibiting the common practice of stealing timber, and forbidding its exportation to neighboring colonies. An act passed in 1743 laying duties on logs, was applicable to the Eastern division of the Province. The present Act passed in 1759, prohibited the unlawful cutting of timber, but did not affect the persons settled within the boundaries of Elizabeth-Town Purchase and the Newark Purchase, who were at this time Plaintiffs or Defendants in any Bill in the High Court of Chancery of New Jersey, in respect to any Timber Lands.

791. NEWSPAPER. The Independent Reflector. Numbers I to LII [November 30, 1752 to November 22, 1753, ALL PUBLISHED]; also,—The Occasional Reverberator. Numbers I to IV [September 7 to October 5, 1753, EVIDENTLY ALL PUBLISHED]. Together, 56 numbers, small folio, with old marbled wrappers, bound in one vol. three-quarter red morocco, gilt back, margins of three leaves repaired, the text not damaged. New York: Printed by James Parker, 1752-1753

AN ITEM OF EXCESSIVE RARITY, POSSIBLY NOT MORE THAN FOUR PERFECT COPIES NOW IN EXISTENCE.

To this paper, which was edited by William Livingston, many noted men of the day contributed articles, Livingston himself wrote a series of letters in which he vigorously opposed the establishment of an American Episcopate, and the incorporation of an Episcopal College in New York (the first attempt at founding what to-day is Columbia College). Among the others who are said to have contributed to its pages were,—Aaron Burr, President of New Jersey College, John M. Scott, William Alexander, known afterwards as Lord Sterling, and William Smith, who died while Chief-Justice of Canada.

The paper was published every Thursday, and contained moral and political essays, but no news; its attacks on men in power, by members of a literary society in and around New York ultimately gave much offence, and at the end of the year James Parker, refused to issue it, and as no other printer in New York dared to undertake the printing on account of its severe attacks, the publication was suspended.

Among other articles which these numbers contain are the following,—The abuses of the Road and City Watch; Of the Importation of Mendicant Foreigners; A Vindication of the Moravians; A brief consideration of New York with respect to its natural advantages; Abuses in the practice of Law; and many other interesting contributions.

The four numbers of "The Occasional Reverberator" which accompany this volume, are exceedingly scarce. Evans mentions but one known copy, giving collation as Spp, whereas there are 16pp. in all.

Accompanying this volume are two letters relating to the same, one from John B. Clark, and the other from W. C. Edgar, editor of "The Bellman," Minneapolis, with clipping from this paper relating to the above work.

The above does not contain the Ordinance Regulations, and lacks the last 12 pages of the Acts. The collation of the above copy is as follows.—Title, 1 leaf; Index and Alphabetical Table, pp. (8); text, pp. 1-252, 261-308 (should be 319).

Rare pamphlet of the Stamp Act Times in New York. The unknown author,—who signs himself at end of dedication, "A Linen Draper,"—advocates a tariff on imports, for "Exports alone make a Country rich, while Imports impoverish it." In referring to the trade of the Province he says,—"New York has for several years received from three to Four Hundred Thousand Pounds sterling in British and Asiatick Manufactures annually." His remarks regarding the Paper Emissions in New York, are strongly derogatory, comparing the evil effect of the same, to the South Sea Stock in England in 1720, which "ruined nearly half the nation." and to Law's Mississippi Company, whose stock, the author calls "gilded Bait."

Choice Copy, entirely uncut, with wide margins, the impression being as bright as the day of printing. Seemingly an early trial impression before the actual adjustment of the press.

The sheets separated, and lightly hinged on heavy paper, and bound in full crimson levant morocco, blue levant doublures, white watered-silk linings, lettered on back and side.

A REMARKABLE MANUSCRIPT OF A CRITIQUE, WRITTEN BY POE FOR PUBLICATION IN HIS "LITERATI," contributed from month to month to "The Southern Literary Messenger," in which he praises very extravagantly "The Forsaken," one of the best known poems of Estelle Anna Lewis. At that time Miss Lewis, who Lamartine has called the "Female Plutarch," and Poe "the rival of Sappho" was still in her 'teens.

"The Forsaken," of which a complete transcript in the autograph of, and signed by, Estelle Anna Lewis is with the Poe manuscript, was included among the minor poems in the "Records of the Heart" (New York, 1840), which Poe reviewed.

It was not often that Poe bestowed such unstinted praise on the work of another writer as in this case of Miss Lewis. Names greater by far than hers in American literature often felt the keen edge of his critical knife.

The manuscript in part is as follows:

“Among the minor poems of ‘The Records’ are several of exquisite pathos, subservient to a very forcible yet very refined and delicate fancy—or more properly, imagination. We must be permitted to exemplify our meaning by the citation of ‘The Forsaken’—a poem, which, in its peculiar way, is not excelled, if equalled, by any composition, of similar length, which has ever been written by an American. There is about it a dreamy—a voluptuous melancholy—a simple, passionate and sensuous expression of sorrow which is perfectly irresistible:

THE FORSAKEN.

“‘It hath been said for all who die
There is a tear;
Some pining, bleeding heart to sigh
O’er every bier:
But in that hour of pain and dread
Who will draw near
Around my humble couch and shed
One farewell tear?
* * * * *
Could I but know when I am sleeping
Low in the ground,
One faithful heart would there be keeping
Watch all night round,
As if some gem lay shrined beneath
That sod’s cold gloom,
’T would mitigate the pangs of Death,
And light the tomb.’

* * * * *

“The great charm of this truly beautiful poem is the exquisite and unaffected naturalness of its thought. It is on this account that the sternest heart will be moved by it—even to tears.”

872. PRIMER. New England Primer Improved. Woodcuts. 24mo, original boards, roan back, small tear in front page, binding as usual is broken. Boston: Printed by James Loring [circa 1792]
This Edition is that usually cited as circa 1810-1820; the typography and makeup of the entire contents being the same as the 1792 dated issue, the only alteration being in the title-page, the imprint in present copy being closer to the line below "Adorned with cuts," which was necessitated on account of the new border, which in this issue has been altered to a wider design. The text is on somewhat heavier paper than the above, and the type shows in some places the wear of printing, the whole indicating that the present issue, with the exception of the title, was printed from the same form as the original dated issue of 1792.

Dogerty, alias, Peter Madicanscutter. 8pp. 8vo. original wrappers, with curious woodcut on front wrapper.

[Providence, 1843?]

A long humorous poem on the troubles in Rhode Island, arising out of the election of Thomas W. Dorr to the Governorship of the State under the new Constitution. The attempt by his friends to gain possession of the arsenal in 1842, ended in failure, and Dorr being arrested was convicted and confined in prison, where he remained until 1845, being then released by an act of amnesty.

The above poem is a long tirade against the enemies of Dorr, and closes with the following lines,—

“When tyrants moulder in the dust,
His name shall live among the just.
And when his sun in glory sets,
His memory like the good Fayette’s,
Will be revered by every clime,

894. RHODE ISLAND. PARTLY COLORED MAP. “Map of part of Rhode Island, Shewing the Positions of the American & British Armies at the Siege of Newport, and the subsequent Action on the 29th of August, 1778.” Engraved by J. Yeager. Size, 6 x 9½ inches. Matted. N.p.n.d.

Italians off Lissa. As said above, the first encounter between iron-clads was that between the MONITOR and MERRIMAC, both genuine iron-clads. This fight marked a revolution in naval warfare as complete as the revolution which separated the era of row galleys and hand-to-hand fighting from the era of sailing ships which relied mainly on their artillery. Of less importance, but still of great importance, was the fight off Lissa, inasmuch as it was the first in which squadrons of iron-clads took part against one another; and the weaker fleet won, Tegetthoff with his own flagship, an iron-clad, sinking one of the heaviest Italian iron-clads.

The HUASCAR, like all the early armored ships, was clad in iron; but modern armored vessels are sheathed in steel. Sometimes the armor is backed with wood, whether fireproofed or not; sometimes ~~with~~ ~~all~~ ~~the~~ ~~same~~ ~~idea~~ ~~is~~ ~~used~~ ~~in~~ ~~the~~ ~~case~~ ~~of~~ ~~iron~~ ~~clads~~ ~~it~~ ~~is~~ ~~not~~ ~~called~~ ~~so~~ ~~it~~ ~~is~~ ~~not~~ ~~called~~ ~~so~~
 As yet the great modern navies are in the experimental stage, just as the sailing navies of the Seventeenth Century were in the experimental stage. When DeRuyter and Tromp fought Blake and Monk the fleets on both sides consisted of all kinds of vessels, all of which took part in the melees. Custom had not crystalized the distinction between line-of-battleships and frigates; indeed there were no hard-and-fast lines between the different classes of ships. Nowadays also it is difficult to draw exact lines of demarkation among the multitudinous classes of ships, for every great nation has experimented with exceptional types of craft, and every great nation is apt to build along its own particular lines.

ROOSEVELT (THEODORE)
 Typewritten Manuscript
 (See No. 899)

Fifth Session, Friday Afternoon, April 7th

898. ROOSEVELT (THEODORE,—Ex-President United States). Signed Photograph. Full-bust, to front, head to left. Pach Bros. New York. Small folio, framed, with glass.
899. ROOSEVELT (THEODORE). THE COMPLETE ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF "FIGHTS BETWEEN IRON-CLADS," as sent to the "Century Magazine" in typewritten form, with numerous corrections in the autograph of, and SIGNED BY, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
This essay is interesting not alone as the work of an American President, who is at the same time an American historian, but also that by reason of its subject matter and its account of various classes of battleships, (among which Roosevelt mentions the English cruisers Powerful and Terrible.) it comes into direct relationship with present phases of the war in Europe. In the last paragraph, there is reference to the new ships building for the German navy.—ships which now, of course, are playing a waiting role in the war.
The essay is inlaid with frontispiece portrait of Roosevelt, and engravings of the Monitor and the Merrimac, into a full blue levant volume, the front cover of which has a panel of white levant surrounded by a border of red levant, thus suggesting the colors of the American flag.

(See Reproduction)
914. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Outside the Court House." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, 14¼ x 10¼. Matted.
A characteristic and FINELY EXECUTED DRAWING, containing a large number of figures, male and female. Prominent in the foreground is an elderly man, paper in hand, which seemingly contains the verdict in a law suit just terminated (probably a divorce). Standing nearby is his counsel, looking very glum; while just outside of the court doorway is the figure of a woman, perhaps the young wife, to whom a gallant in knee breeches, and with folded arms is addressing himself. Seated near is a court official in cocked hat, and uniform, who is speaking to an elderly female, while she fondles a mug of ale,—dogs of various breeds abound, and there are several military men in uniform in the crowd.

(No. 913)

Fifth Session, Friday Afternoon, April 7th

915. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Going for a Drive." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9\frac{1}{2} \times 5\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.

The details of this clever drawing are well executed. A horse is between the shafts of a light two-wheeled buggy, in which is seated a young lady, while about to enter it is her male companion. Father and mother of the girl nearby,—picturesque windows,—roofs, etc., with dogs and chickens in foreground.

916. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Sweep O." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, 9×11 inches. Matted.

As the title indicates this drawing is illustrative of a character in English life,—the Chimney Sweeper,—who is rapidly disappearing. In the foreground is the sweep, bag of soot on his back, brushes, etc. on his arm.—accompanied by his young assistant, whose work was to climb the chimneys. This boy is carrying a large bag of soot, and has brushes on his arm. A languishing female is looking out of a half-open window, and an old coffee woman is serving her patrons.

917. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Making a Black White." Original Water Color Drawing. Signed "Rowlandson." Size, $8\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

A winter scene in which four energetic females are snowballing a colored man, who is rapidly retreating,—cottages, etc. in background.

918. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "A Soldier Drinking." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

A mounted soldier has stopped at a wayside inn to get a drink. The farmer having handed the soldier a glass of ale stands by jug in hand ready to refill the glass. The farmer's wife and family are all looking towards the soldier and his horse,—thatched-roofed cottage,—stack of hay,—baskets, etc. in background.

919. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Captain Cook with the "Endeavour" and "Discovery," endeavouring to force a passage through the North Seas." Original Water Color Drawing, the title (as foregoing), IN ROWLANDSON'S AUTOGRAPH. Size, $10 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Matted.

An arctic scene FINELY EXECUTED. The three masted vessel "Endeavour" with all sails set is passing through an open stretch of water,—the "Discovery," in the background, is ice-bound,—a group of walrus huddled together on a large ice floe, &c.

920. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Sportsman Regaling." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $15\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{12}{16}$ inches. Matted.

A BEAUTIFULLY EXECUTED DRAWING. The principal female figure therein is drawn with marked grace and beauty. The scene is set outside a cottage door. A sportsman having returned from the hunt lifts his glass to toast a graceful female who is coming forward carrying a bowl of ripe fruit. Two other women are seated at the cloth-covered table, while the mother holds open the door through which she is about to pass. The sportsman's dogs, gun, cow in shed, foliage, etc. completes this attractive scene.

921. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Waggoners Inn." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.

A characteristic scene on an English countryside. The drivers of two wagons have halted to allow the female passengers opportunity for rest and refreshment, and to give the horses their share of food. The proprietor, lamp in hand, stands at the open door welcoming his guests who are about to enter the picturesque road-house.

922. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Two Musketeers." Original Water Color Drawings. Size, $4\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

Two musketeers in uniform,—stocks of guns resting on ground,—are conversing with a woman.

923. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). Brighton Pavilion. Original Pencil Drawing, the title; "Pavilion, Brighton, 1820" in ink at top of drawing, IN THE ARTIST'S AUTOGRAPH. Size, $9\frac{1}{4} \times 5\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.

Rowlandson has herein succeeded in incorporating about 30 male and female figures, some walking, some standing, others on horseback. Prominent in the foreground is a lively dog fight, while in the background, the picturesque architecture is delightfully portrayed.

924. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "A Tragic Scene." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $6 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Matted.

Probably a scene from one of Shakespeare's tragedies, wherein a man with a blood-stained dagger in each hand comes through a door, and is confronted by a startled woman holding a curtain with her left hand.

925. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Honi Soit qui Maly Pense." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $10\frac{3}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

Rowlandson was much given to portraying the female figure in nude and semi-nude states. The above drawing contains representations of several such figures, who have entered a general store to make purchases. The garter worn by one of the ladies having become unfastened, its wearer apparently has asked the male proprietor, who is seated on a barrel, to fasten it, which he is doing, while the elderly wife of the proprietor glances over the counter with an envious look.

926. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Apple Woman." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $5 \times 6\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

A portly woman vendor of apples, is pushing a barrow full of the fruit, crying her wares meanwhile. In the background are two other figures, one male, one female, the latter carrying a large bowl on her head.

927. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Scene at a Fair." Original Water Color Drawing, the title written IN ROWLANDSON'S AUTOGRAPH. Size, $14\frac{1}{4} \times 9\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

A Rowlandson drawing of an unusual theme. An audience watching the performers on a stage is thrown into consternation, when a young tiger leaps through a side curtain. Terror is apparent on all faces, and in their haste to depart several of the men have grasped their woman companions in their arms, and considerable portions of their anatomy are thus displayed.

Fifth Session, Friday Afternoon, April 7th

928. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Soldiers Drinking." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $13\frac{1}{2} \times 9\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.

Three soldiers in uniform are seated at a table, smoking, drinking and having a game of cards, while two other soldiers stand nearby,—two horses are in stalls in the background, and two other horses are to the left,—a large lamp hangs near the table, and a high fence constructed of huge timbers is at the right.

929. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Shipwreck." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, 16×10 inches. Matted.

A sudden squall has capsized a dory, which has keeled over before her master has had time to lower the sails. Water is rapidly entering the bulkhead, and the occupants are making frantic efforts to reach a small boat trailing astern. The lowering sky and angry sea are most vividly portrayed, and the entire drawing is a splendid specimen.

930. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Morning Ride." Original Sepia Drawing. Size, $12 \times 8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

As two mounted sportsmen are enjoying their morning ride, they meet an elderly woman who has been carrying two heavy bags, but who is now resting. The sportsman's dog joyously leads the way,—foliage in background.

931. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Courting Scene." Original Water Color Drawing, SIGNED "ROWLANDSON, 1812." Size, $8\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.

IN THIS FINE SPECIMEN OF THE WORK OF ROWLANDSON, the caricaturist portrays with equal force the charming maiden and the coarse, ugly female itinerant pedler. A dashing gallant, wearing cocked hat, high cravat, top boots, etc. is whispering words of love to the maiden, who is grace itself, when the pair are accosted by the street merchant, who requests that the gallant purchase some of her wares. Several other figures, architecture, etc., in background.

932. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "The Dancing Lesson." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9\frac{1}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$ inches. Matted.

A portly and very pompous elderly man is making an effort to keep in step with the dancing master, who is playing the violin and is a most graceful figure. On the walls are representations of an acting bear being taught to dance, and of a young woman dancing. On the reverse of the drawing are sketches of several other figures, probably by Rowlandson.

933. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "A Dragoon." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9\frac{1}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Matted.

Mounted on a white charger is a dragoon in full dress uniform, the coloring and treatment of which portray the work of Rowlandson most delightfully.

934. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "The Cat-Skinner." Original Water Color Drawing. Size, $9 \times 11\frac{1}{8}$ inches. Matted.

Two cats have fallen victims to a "Cat-Skinner." As he is holding the terrified animals in his hands, he is suddenly confronted by their female owner, who with upraised hands and determined mien is about to attempt to rescue her pets from the man's clutches. A large knife in sheath is part of the equipment of the "skinner."

935. ROWLANDSON (THOMAS). "Venus Assisting Bacchus." Original Water Color Drawing. SIGNED AND DATED, "T. Rowlandson, 1812." Size, $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $10\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Matted.
A VERY FINE SPECIMEN. An elderly man, whose bloated appearance shows the effect of incessant drinking, is being led by a young girl, whose youthful, pretty face is in striking contrast to that of the man, who, pipe in hand, is, with much difficulty, keeping his feet. Immediately behind the pair is a younger man, also with bloated features, who is holding a jug of ale in his right hand.
936. [ROWLANDSON (THOMAS)]. Portrait, unsigned, half length, seated, facing left. FINELY EXECUTED DRAWING in sepia and wash colors, after the original study from Life by John Raphael Smith, in the department of Prints and Drawings in the British Museum. Size, $9\frac{1}{2}$ x 12 inches. Matted.

STEVENSON'S OWN COPY, WITH MANY MARGINAL PENCILINGS, CROSS-REFERENCES, AND COMMENTS ON THE TEXT. ALL IN STEVENSON'S HANDWRITING. Vol. I. has his bookplate, with signature of Isobel Strong. Among the interesting comments is one on Napoleon, whose great genius, Stevenson refers to as being clouded by "vanity and the habit of success." All the volumes show the thorough perusal Stevenson gave to them, in order to obtain information for his projected work on the Life of Wellington.

The following notice appears in Balfour's Life of Stevenson,—“Soon afterwards (1881) he (Stevenson) successfully concluded negotiations for a Life of Wellington, which he was commissioned to write for the series of 'English Worthies' edited by Andrew Lang.' The military genius of the great strategist had long dazzled Stevenson, who had also been deeply fascinated by the study of his character.”

1016. SWINBURNE (ALGERNON CHARLES). THE COMPLETE ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF THE DEDICATORY POEM FOR THE THIRD SERIES OF POEMS AND BALLADS. Inlaid into seven pages, and bound with a signed proof of S. Hollyer's portrait etching of Swinburne, and the Hollyer reproduction of Dante Gabrielle Rossetti's portrait of Swinburne, into a full blue levant volume, specially tooled with inlaid wreath of holly.

Obvious is the importance of this poem, as the dedication for one of Swinburne's most famous volumes; but apart from this manifest importance, the poem is of unquestioned interest for the student of Swinburne. Dedicated to his friend, William Bell Scott, it takes rank among those poems of friendship and admiration, in which Swinburne showed his nature at its best. Both in metre, melody and metaphor, the poem is characteristic. It may be specially noted that the concluding verse ends with a reference to the sea. Swinburne finishes so many of his poems with mention of the sea or some sea imagery, that the theory has been advanced that this was a conscious act on his part, a tribute to the wonder and the beauty of the sea from one who was ever its passionate admirer.

The Manuscript shows numerous corrections in Swinburne's autograph, the changed lines or words being, however, so stricken out that the original words are readily deciphered, thus affording the student the opportunity to see Swinburne's famous poem in its original form as well as in the shape in which it appears in print.

With pen and ink title-page. The whole mounted on four sheets, 4to.

An interesting lot, the portrait being well drawn.

Fine Copy. The author defends Lord Cornwallis, and is very severe on Colonel Tarleton, who he says has withheld facts, and mutilated others. The long and detailed account of the Siege of Ninety-Six is most interesting, as being by an eye-witness on the British side.

see below), and 5 by JOHN TENNIEL. The illustrated title-page is in 6 compartments, the 3 drawings on the right are by John Tenniel, and the 3 on the left by "5-12ths." In the drawing on p. 8 by "5-12ths," "THE BURIAL OF THE BOOK OF BEAUTY," there is a pencil sketch of Mr. T. Barrett (5-12ths), evidently drawn by JOHN TENNIEL, over which has been placed the rebus "TEA-BAR RAT." On page 9, where "THE BOOK OF BEAUTY RISES FROM ITS ASHES," there is a very spirited cartoon by JOHN TENNIEL, on which is stated: "WINTERSLOW PLACE. THERE WILL BE A GRAND MEETING OF THE PROPRIETORS, EDITORS, AND ALL THE CONTRIBUTORS TO THE BOOK OF BEAUTY, ON FRIDAY, JUNE 7, AT HALF PAST 5 P.M. PRECISELY." A HIGHLY INTERESTING COLLECTION.

Mr. T. Barrett and his wife were intimate friends of Sir John Tenniel in 1844, and the two men used to amuse themselves by making drawings in colored chalks after dinner when Tenniel was dining with the Barretts. Mr. Barrett called himself "5-12ths" because his wife was the "better half."

1031. THOREAU (HENRY DAVID)—Distinguished American Author and Naturalist). Original Autograph Manuscript, 4 pp. 4to. Signed and dated,—“Thoreau, April 28 [1837]” The Original Manuscript of a forensic essay entitled,—“The opinions of Dymond and Mrs. Opie respecting the general obligation to tell the truth; are the sound and applicable? Vide Dymond’s Essays on Morality—and Mrs. Opie’s Illustrations of Lying.”
AN UNPUBLISHED MANUSCRIPT, written by Thoreau at the age of twenty, in his Senior year at Harvard University; a typewritten note, dated, Concord, February 18, 1897, on the last page, certifies to this manuscript having been given by Thoreau to a friend, on condition that the same was never to be published.
The following are excerpts taking from this remarkable manuscript, tending to illustrate the writer’s thoughts in connection with his definition of “what is a lie?”—“ . . . We are to bear in mind that whether the term is to be understood in a good or a bad sense, must depend upon the definition assigned it. As here used, it is altogether arbitrary. Mr. Dymond does not tell us that this or that is a lie . . . let us inquire first, whether a man may, under any concurable circumstances, tell a lie without the infraction of the moral law. May we not lie to a robber, in order to preserve our property? . . . To lie, we will say, is to “utter what is true when the speaker professes to utter truth, or when he knows it is expected by the hearer.”
To lie then, in this sense, would be immoral, because to murder, with the same view, would be immoral. It is the similarity of purpose, and not of means, which constitutes the immorality in this case. The method of reasoning amounts, in fact, to a manifest petitio principis.
But further, may we not tell a falsehood to a madman for his own advantage? Dymond’s answer amounts to this. It would not be for his advantage, and hence would it be morally wrong to commit so egregious a blunder. . . . If, on the other hand, these are lies, if the speaker "utters what is untrue when he professes to utter truth, or when he knows it is expected by the hearer," his conduct is certainly to be condemned.

As for those cases in which it is impossible to be deceived—the compliments which bring up the rear in a dedication or epistle, we can at best say no good of them.

FIRST EDITION, with the seven leaves of Index, which Lowndes says are often wanting. The engraved title, which is done in Cecill's best manner, is an extremely interesting example of the method of indicating the contents of the book by the figures represented thereon.

The work is dedicated to King Charles the First, the Address of the Author to the Reader ending with the following quaint couplet,— Warne thee that one day, thou for death must looke.”

“So many burials, Reader, in one booke

This is followed by a Discourse of Funeral Monuments, etc., which covers pp. 1-196, then commences a description of the Ancient Funeral Monuments, which extends to page 371, followed by the Index. The text is interspersed with Epitaphs copied from the Monuments, or Verse applicable to the subject.

Folio contains a great deal of genealogical and biographical matter not found elsewhere, many of the records being taken from tomb stones which were destroyed during the Great Civil War in England.

A highly commendatory review of the work of Celia Thaxter's,—"The Wreck of the Pocahontas," and of the Poems by Lucy Larcom, and other writers whose literary contributions up to this time consisted of articles in periodicals only.
"The last Atlantic Monthly has for its second article, a poem of singular power entitled 'The Wreck of the Pocahontas.' It is from the pen of Celia Thaxter who saw what she so well describes, when a child living on the little rock of White Island. It is a little remarkable that some of the best contributions to our periodical literature, are made by writers who have never had the good or ill fortune to publish a book, and whose names are not included in the guild of authorship. The Atlantic . . . has had nothing better than such poems as 'Hilary' & 'Skipper Ben' by Lucy Larcom, and the prose story of 'The Tenth of January,' by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps . . ."
The letter transmitting the above Manuscript reads as follows,—"I hope thee will give thy readers the Poem referred to above, as, apart from its great merit it has a strong local interest. If so, perhaps it might be printed in connexion with my note above."
